Why not join the natural flow of people and take a leisurely walk around the port and town of Uno

Tamano City with a population of approximately 55,000 is located at the southern tip of Okayama Prefecture. As the hub of the city, all kinds of people come and go around the Uno area. Uno Port once prospered as a passenger port connecting Honshu and Shikoku, and recently, the sea route connecting Uno and the nearby islands (Naoshima, Teshima, and Shodoshima) in the Seto Inland Sea has attracted many tourists with enthusiastic support of community revitalization through art. In the Uno area, many visitors from Japan and abroad are drawn to the casual guesthouses renovated from old folk homes and stylish shops that line the streets. Because of its compact size, you can enjoy a leisurely walk around town. Welcome to the town of Uno.
